Governor's Budget Veto No. 1 Would Impact Archives & History

The Governor's 2014-15 budget vetoes include a veto (Veto No. 1) of funding for four new staff positions at the South Carolina Department of Archives and History. These positions are important for the agency's efforts to accept digital records and to make more records accessible to the public in digital format. For more information, go to <https://www.facebook.com/pages/South-Carolina-Archives-and-History-Foundation/167593889998217>.

State Board of Review to Meet July 25

The State Board of Review for the National Register of Historic Places will meet on Friday, July 25, 2014 at 10:30 a.m. at the SC Archives and History Center in Columbia. The Board will consider the following five nominations:

- Arcadia Mill #1 in Spartanburg
- J.C. Richardson House in Robertville in Jasper County
- Lincoln High School in Sumter
- Dillon Graded School in Dillon
- Columbia Commercial Historic District

The public is welcome to attend the meeting. For more information about the State Board of Review, see <http://shpo.sc.gov/programs/natreg/Pages/Board.aspx> or contact Andy Chandler at chandler@scdah.state.sc.us or 803-896-6179.

Newest Listings in the National Register of Historic Places

Schuyler Apartments, 275 S. Church Street in Spartanburg was listed in the National Register on May 12, 2014. Constructed in 1950, the building is architecturally significant as a prominent and unique example of post-World War II high rise International Style architecture in Spartanburg, designed and developed by Spartanburg architect David William Cecil. With its plainer appearance, reinforced concrete construction with a vertical emphasis, steel and glass ribbon windows, and externally-expressed structural frame, it exemplifies the International Style.

The Callawassie Sugar Works, on Callawassie Island in Beaufort County was listed in the National Register on May 27, 2014. This site contains the tabby ruins of two historic structures (the sugar mill base, or foundation, and the boiling house) and archaeological evidence of a third structure (the curing shed). The sugar works, constructed of tabby ca. 1815-1816, was a complex for processing sugar cane into sugar. The site is significant as the only known remnants of a sugar cane processing operation in early 19th century South Carolina.

Photographs from these recent listings are on the SCDAH Facebook page.

Welcome to SHPO Summer Interns

The SHPO is pleased to welcome two interns this summer.

Robert Olguin, a graduate student in the Public History program at USC, is gathering background information in anticipation of updating the state's historic preservation plan. The current plan Preserving Our Past to Build a Healthy Future can be viewed online at <http://shpo.sc.gov/pubs/Documents/prezplan07W.pdf>.

Kassie Barbara, an undergraduate student at USC, is interning with the SHPO this summer as part of an undergraduate history class. She is assisting with the historical marker program.

FEMA Seeks Input on Statewide Programmatic Agreement

The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) invites comments on a draft Programmatic Agreement for South Carolina. The Agreement's purpose is to ensure that FEMA satisfies its Section 106 (of the National Historic Preservation Act) responsibilities for all undertakings administered through its federal programs in the State of South Carolina, including among others: Disaster Public Assistance Program, Hazard Mitigation Grant Program, Federal Assistance to Individuals and Households, Flood Mitigation Assistance Program, and programs administered by FEMA's Grant Preparedness Directorate. Proposed parties to the Agreement include FEMA, the South Carolina Department of Archives and History (State Historic Preservation Office), South Carolina Emergency Management Division, and federally recognized Indian Tribes with Tribal lands or ancestral lands within the State of South Carolina.

The proposed Agreement can be viewed electronically at: <http://www.fema.gov/media-library/assets/documents/95829>. A paper copy of the proposed Agreement can be viewed at South Carolina Department of Archives and History, 8301 Parklane Road, Columbia, South Carolina 29223 from 9:00 – 4:30, Monday – Friday. Comments on the proposed Agreement can be emailed to FEMA-R4ehp@fema.dhs.gov, faxed to FEMA at (770) 220-5440, or mailed to FEMA R4 Acting Regional Environmental Officer, April Cummings, 3003 Chamblee Tucker Rd., Atlanta, GA 30341-4112. Identify comments by placing "SC HP PA Comments" in the subject line.

Tips for Hurricane Season

Hurricane season started June 1. Historic Charleston Foundation has prepared a helpful guide on "Hurricane Preparedness and Recovery for Owners of Historic Properties". While some of the contact information is specific to Charleston, the actions listed in the guide can be applied elsewhere. To access the link click here.

Landmarks and Sea Level Rise

A recent report “National Landmarks at Risk” reviews potential impacts of sea level rise on historic places. One of the highlighted case studies is the Charleston Historic District. See this link.

Falling by the Wayside: Call for 2014 Nominations

All across the country along the nation's highways and byways there are reminders of the heyday of the American roadside, from filling stations and tourist courts to bridges, parks, and diners. Although some remnants of the roadside past are lovingly restored, others are endangered due to a variety of factors including new development, a lack of funds for maintenance or restoration, or a lack of knowledge and appreciation. The Society for Commercial Archaeology is seeking nominations of endangered roadside architecture for its 2014 Falling By the Wayside List. To read more, click here to visit the main Falling by the Wayside page.
To nominate a place, click here to download and a nomination form.

Nominations are due by August 1, 2014.
